

Student Dress Code

Iran University of Medical Sciences (IUMS)

- In all administrative, educational, research, and clinical settings, the clothing (or uniform) of students should completely cover the body, be consistent with Islamic values and relevant regulations, and be appropriate considering their profession and position (in terms of color and size, etc.).
- The clothes should always be simple and neat, in good condition, and worthy of the university, and should be different from the clothes suitable for non-academic settings, such as parties, celebrations, entertainment, sports, etc., and away from weird fashion models.
- Students are not allowed to wear sandals, flip flops, very high heels (over 5 cm), high boots (up to the knee), if worn with short pants, and shoes suitable for parties and special gatherings. Shoes should be simple and clean.
- Jewelry and ornaments worn in the academic environment must be of the permitted type (e.g., wedding rings, watches, etc.).
- Make-up for beauty that may attract the attention of others is prohibited in academic settings (namely wearing dental prostheses for male students and facial cosmetics for female students).
- Students should have a clean, well-groomed appearance that suits their professional position and the honor of the university.
- Students' clothing should be in harmony with the cultural and religious beliefs of the community.
- Clothes and gowns that are too tight, loose, and short are not considered appropriate for hospital and university environments.
